

Student Attitude Survey

Think about yourself as a literacy learner. Beside each statement write the number of the description that best describes you as a learner.

1 – not at all like me 2 – sort of like me 3 – a lot like me

Speaker

- I enjoy discussing ideas and issues with others. _____
- I enjoy doing oral presentations. _____
- I am good at explaining ideas and information orally. _____
- I am comfortable presenting in front of others. _____
- I would rather talk about ideas than read or write about them. _____
- I speak clearly and can easily be heard by others. _____

Writer

- I am a good writer. _____
- I like to use lots of description and new words in my writing. _____
- I like to write in point form or fill in charts. _____
- I only write in school. _____
- I use e-mail and visit or take part in chat rooms on the computer. _____
- I like to write things like newspaper articles or informational pieces. _____
- I like to write narrative, imaginative stories. _____
- When I write, I try to spell all the words correctly the first time. _____
- I keep changing and improving my writing. _____

Reader

- I am a good reader. _____
- If I have trouble reading, I use lots of different strategies to help me understand. _____
- I find non-fiction reading easier and more interesting than fiction. _____
- I take a long time to read things. _____
- I read outside of school. _____
- I read more on the Internet than in books. _____
- I read to learn about things that interest me. _____
- I would rather read magazines than books. _____
- When I read I see pictures in my head. _____
- When I read aloud I worry about saying the words just right. _____

Group member

- I come to my group prepared and ready to contribute. _____
- I am organized. _____
- I participate in my group. _____
- If I do not understand my role in my group, I ask questions. _____
- I am a good listener. _____
- I build on the ideas of others. _____
- I cooperate in the group. _____
- I work with others to solve problems. _____
- I set goals to improve my work. _____